

BMW Canada Inc. 2015 Product Planning Bulletin

2016MY 4 Series Coupe, Gran Coupe, Convertible and M3 and M4 Product and Pricing

The 4 Series lineup has been very successful, and 2016 model year further enhances the lineup with a number of package enhancements and a more streamlined offer.

2016MY sees the addition of the Alarm System as standard equipment on all 4 Series models, and the addition of through load on 428i models. The Premium / Premium Enhanced package structure has been working well on other BMW lines, and we are introducing this structure to the 4 Series as well. Finally, due to the popularity of xDrive across the 4 Series lineup, we have removed the RWD option from all variants, except for the 435i Coupe. There no changes to the M3 and M4 lineups.

Package Changes

The biggest change is the consolidation of Premium and Executive packages into Premium Essential and Premium Enhanced. The Essential package is lighter on equipment, and lower priced than the outgoing Premium package. The Enhanced package combines equipment from the outgoing Executive and Premium packages together at a lower price, without lumbar support (which is still available as a stand-alone option). On the 435i, a Driver Assistance package is also added. The ConnectedDrive package is integrated into Premium Enhanced, and no longer offered as stand-alone.

The BMW Individual line is not available for ordering for July 2015 production. BMW Individual production is expected to resume in Q4, 2015, please look for further announcements. Also note that trims and trim highlights are now included in one option code – previously trims and trim highlights had two separate codes.

Summary of Changes – 428i Coupe shown.
